Claim Objections

1. Claim 4 is objected to because of the following informalities:

In claim 4 the term - -are- - should be inserted before the word "deformable."

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The phrase "or other similarly resilient material" is indefinite because it is not clear which materials are included in such a group, the resiliency of the rubber has not been set forth, and the metes and bounds of the claim cannot be determined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-3, and 6-12 are rejected under U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tanghetti in view of Ford Jr. and Aske Jr.

Tanghetti discloses a trim ring for a wheel comprising an annulus with an unturned outer rim located over and around the outer lip of the wheel rim. See especially figure 4. The inner rim of the annulus is unturned at 9, 15. The trim ring does not include a plurality of grippers and does not have a resilient insert.

Ford Jr. teaches a trim ring for a wheel rim comprising an annulus having an unturned edge and a plurality of grippers 25 for retaining the ring on the wheel rim flange.

Aske Jr. teaches a cover for a wheel in which a resilient rubber insert 35 is provided between the cover and the wheel rim to provide friction between the two components.

From the teachings of Ford Jr. and Aske Jr. it would have been obvious to those of ordinary skill in the art to provide the annulus of Tanghetti with a plurality of grippers spaced around the ring to help retain the trim ring on the wheel rim, and further to provide a resilient rubber insert to prevent the ring from rotating relative to the wheel.

With respect to claim 6, the number of grippers is an obvious mechanical expedient and those of ordinary skill in the art would have readily been able to determine a suitable number of grippers for the trim ring.

With respect to claim 7, the use of adhesive to secure a wheel cover or trim ring to a wheel is well-known in the art and to adhesively secure the trim ring of Tanghetti to the wheel would have been obvious to those of ordinary skill in the art as an extra measure of safety.

With respect to claims 9 and 11, the method limitations are given no patentable weight in the apparatus claims.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 4 and 5 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Information Disclosure Statement

The listing of references in the Search Report is not considered to be an information disclosure statement (IDS) complying with 37 CFR 1.98. 37 CFR 1.98(a)(2) requires a legible copy of: (1) each foreign patent; (2) each publication or that portion which caused it to be listed; (3) for each cited pending U.S. application, the application specification including claims, and any drawing of the application, or that portion of the application which caused it to be listed including any claims directed to that portion, unless the cited pending U.S. application is stored in the Image File Wrapper (IFW) system; and (4) all other information, or that portion which caused it to be listed. In addition, each IDS must include a list of all patents, publications, applications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office (see 37 CFR 1.98(a)(1) and (b)), and MPEP § 609.04(a), subsection I. states, "the list ... must be submitted on a separate paper."

A copy of each foreign reference has not been submitted.

Therefore, the references cited in the Search Report have not been considered. Applicant is advised that the date of submission of any item of information or any missing element(s) will be the date of submission for purposes of determining compliance with the requirements based on the time of filing the IDS, including all "statement" requirements of 37 CFR 1.97(e). See MPEP § 609.05(a).

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The references show other trim rings.
